Are you or a loved one in need of drug and alcohol treatment and you are a resident of Mesa, Arizona? Renaissance Recovery Center is here to help you or your relative through recovery.

Our main mission is to promote healing and well-being of suffering addicts, their relatives and any other individual struggling with psychological and emotional challenges. We offer an enhanced recovery experience since our drug and alcohol treatment program integrates both clinically driven methods and faith-based twelve principles to provide care and promote long-term wellness to suffering individuals.

Our Arizona drug and alcohol treatment facility provides a reference for:

Residential/Inpatient Treatment

Considering the fact that there are different levels of drug and alcohol addiction which require different levels of treatment, more than just the outpatient services, it is important to embrace inpatient treatment. Renaissance Recovery Center provides interventions and assessments using our extensive treatment network providers, who are devoted to finding the best workable treatment for those suffering.

Medication Management

Most individuals who are addicted to using alcohol, drugs and other substances often exhibit anxiety, depression and other mental health issues which generally require medical attention besides substance abuse treatment. With our wide range of medical professionals who can offer suitable evaluation and therapy, Renaissance recovery prides in having a high number of sobriety results owing to appropriate medication cooperated with effective treatment.

Inpatient/Outpatient Detoxification

Since detoxification is often the initial step of the recovery process, some patients will need outpatient services, while others will need inpatient services to get through the distressing withdrawal phase. The facility will, therefore, support you to find competent resources during this elementary stage.

Sober Living/Transitional Housing

In the initial stages of recovery, it is essential to have sufficient housing and social support systems, usually brought about by a secured and organized environment. Its advantage is the creation of a therapeutic locality and independent living which will eventually lead to sober living. With their properly managed and licensed sober living homes, Renaissance Recovery Center has the advantage of offering outpatient treatments, at the same time continuing to be in the real world.

We have an intensive 60-day strategic outpatient program, with an outlined all-inclusive plan that combines family engagement, individualized counseling, and group sessions purposely for those struggling with addiction.

The program runs three nights per week and is inclusive of one individual session along with family counseling services weekly. The group is purposely for creating a friendlier environment which allows for a personal recovery feeling while at the same time retaining the advantages of a group setting. The 60-day primary outpatient program accentuates on the following principles:

- Personal Integrity: Sincerity, open-mindedness, and readiness are key to recovery. At Renaissance recovery center, we assist our clients in exercising and incorporating these qualities attributed to character building.
- Group integrity: Groups are often regarded as groundwork for recovery since they enable addicts struggling with denial and self-deception to interact and view other perspectives which allows them to see the reality of drug and alcohol dependency. Group therapy is, therefore, an essential component which demands the zeal to give and receive aid honestly and decorously.
- Staff integrity: It is usually of great importance to have staff who have had the personal experience of recovery. Since the staff at Renaissance recovery center have extensive intimate experience, they know what it takes to put drug and alcohol abuse to fall.

After Care Program

After the 60 days initial strategic program, Renaissance Recovery Center offers a 90 days aftercare program consisting of one group session per week where issues linked to long-term sobriety alimony are addressed. This is usually an essential phase of treatment since clients are provided continuing support and fortification to implement the skills and tools of recovery. Since the length of treatment is the major seer of a long-term sobriety, Renaissance insurance provides their clients the necessary time and resources to realize the best results.

At Renaissance Recovery Center, we also have an ongoing alumni group which offers support along with an opportunity for service since we understand that recovery happens within relationships.
