Signs Of Drug Addiction

Both drug and alcohol addiction will eventually lead to the same unhappy ending. Substance abuse is characterized by a deterioration in the addict's quality of life including family, friends, work, finances, legal problems, medical issues, and emotional and mental decline. As the alcoholic or addict builds up a tolerance for their drug of choice, their behavior grows more and more erratic as they must find money or other means of access to drugs and alcohol.

Every addict will display a variety of signs that depend on the individual's circumstances and personality, but for most addicts, these are the common signs and symptoms which indicate an addiction to drugs or alcohol:

- Increased need for more drugs or alcohol
- Loss of interest in work or family
- Depression and/or anxiety
- Violent or dangerous behavior
- Lack of interest in hobbies or other activities
- Failing We health or mental stability

Drug Rehabilitation Can Change Your Life

Deciding to consult a drug rehabilitation center AZ for your substance abuse problems is a big step, and it is your best hope for taking back control of your life. If you live in or near Gilbert AZ, Renaissance Recovery is her to help you reclaim your life with a wide range of programs directed at helping both the addict and their family to recover.

You should consider rehab anytime the use of drugs or alcohol starts to negatively affect your life. For instance, if you're losing jobs or have increased absenteeism at work. Often, an addict's need for drugs will come before the welfare of the people they love most – meaning your spouse, children, parents, and friends, all of whom suffer right along with the addict. The earlier you make the decision to get the help you need, the greater are your chances at minimizing your financial and personal losses. While addiction treatment isn't easy, going to rehab is your best chance at reclaiming your life.
